This preconference workshop will provide key updates in the rapidly moving area of neurocritical care. This year's workshop will focus on integrating contemporary neurocritical care into the ICU, including brain-body interactions every intensivist should know about, seizures, identifying physiologic targets in acute brain injury and a review of recent cutting-edge neurocritical care publications.

Goals

1. Enhance clinicians' understanding of the unique interactions between the brain and other vital organs (lung, heart and kidney) after acute brain which impacts physiology, clinical management and patient outcomes.
2. Expand clinicians' knowledge of how basic physiological care (blood pressure, oxygenation, CO2 and osmolality) can impact neurological outcome, and develop a context-specific approach to optimizing these factors after acute brain injury.
3. Acquire specialized knowledge to allow focused interpretation of EEG and diagnostic imaging reports relevant to acute brain injuries, and learn how to integrate these into modern, evidence-based ICU management of neurocritically ill patients.

Themes

1. Important brain-body interactions every intensivist should know about
2. Contemporary management of seizures in the ICU
3. Detection and management of secondary brain insults in the ICU
4. Neurocritical care pearls of wisdom
